MANY PRISONERS
IN COURT TODAYMayor Conaway Presides Over
Long Session—Two Big Cases Dismissed.

Mayor William W. Conaway today presided over one of the longest sessions of police court that has been held in recent months. Court opened at the usual hour and adjourned at 11:40, with the mayor withholding his decision in one of the cases until later in the day.

Maggie Smith, colored, charged with operating a house of ill repute, four persons charged with loitering in the same house, two plain drunks, the case of the city vs. P. A. Sacci and a number of automobile cases caused the long session.

In the case resulting from a raid made up by Assistant Chief of Police Shroyer and Policemen Daugherty, Bogness and Porter, on Maggie Smith's house in Water street, Mayor Conaway, after pondering over the evidence, dismissed the five persons apprehended as the officers failed to make a case against them.

The raid was made at 10 o'clock last evening. The raiding officers found Maggie Smith and another woman who had escaped in a front room of the house, while in a rear bed room Henry Wines, Grace Parsons, Wines, Fred Campbell and Victoria Smith were found and arrested.

At today's trial Henry and Grace Parsons Wines established the fact that they were man and wife, had rented the room from the Smith woman for several weeks and were making their home there. Victoria Smith proved that she had not been a minor operation at a local hospital last Friday and had been removed to the Smith woman's home because the distance to her own rooming house on Pickhandle Hill was too great.

The Smith woman was taken care of her during her convalescence period, as claimed. The evidence proved that Campbell, who had a room at the Smith house, was not in the room at the time the officers raided the place but was in a downstairs room.

In the case of the city vs. P. A. Sacci, local real estate broker charged in a warrant with threatening to do great bodily harm to E. Dusch, the testimony introduced tended to show that both the prosecuting witness and the defendant were more or less drunk, and as no one had been hurt the warrant against Sacci was dismissed.

Joseph Burk and Thomas Riley, arrested for being intoxicated in the street entered pleas of guilty and were fined $5 and costs each by the mayor. The two men paid the required amount and were released.

Morgan Chambers, ordered in court for parking his car in front of his home in Walnut avenue at night, entered a plea of guilty to the charge and drew a fine of $2 and costs.

William Cunningham, of Bellevue, charged with speeding in the Pennsylvania avenue near the Miller School Building, entered a plea of guilty to the charge. Mayor Conaway heard the testimony of Policeman Downey who made the arrest. Downey said that Cunningham with three other boys in a Ford roadster topped the Quince street at a fair rate of speed and as they started down the other side he gave the car all the gas. When they passed in front of the school property the car was making twenty five or thirty miles per hour, he said. Cunningham was questioned concerning the speed and he said he was driving but that he was aware of the fact that he was making more than the law allowed. He drew a fine of $10 and costs, paid up and was released.

A number of other traffic law violators of less serious nature and first offenders were released by the mayor.

The Blue Ridge

There will be a special feature matinee for children at the Blue Ridge tomorrow afternoon when the Gaudier Brothers will entertain them with their "Animated Toyshop," which is just that, for the stage settings give the appearance of a real toy shop, and suddenly an animal come to life and show almost human intelligence in the capers they cut.

The first act on the program in which Carmen Encelle appears, as a little country girl with musical ambitions, is quite original, but her playing and singing demonstrate clearly that she is not an amateur in the art.

"Fun in a Lunatic Asylum" by Rolly and Rodgers is an amusing little skit that pleases.

Ed. Norton in "Songs As You Like To Hear Them" sang several popular airs.

"Footlights," the screen attraction is the screen version of Rita Wellman's short story of a New England girl who has started on a theatrical career but to find that she is about to fail, when she is brought to the notice of a great producer, who sees in her real talent, but requires that she adopt a Russian name, temperament and mannerisms.

This Lizzie Parsons becomes Liza Parsanova and success in her chosen profession comes to her, and all goes well until Liza, or rather Lizzie, really comes to love and then the barrier of sham almost causes a tragedy, but all ends happily.

The leading roles are well taken by Elsie Ferguson, Reginald Denny and Marc MacDer-mott.

The Nelson.

There is nothing particularly new in the plot of "Across the Continent" showing at the Nelson today, but if you have the speed craze you will appreciate the daring recklessness of Wallace Reid, who plays the role of Jimmy Dent, as he races over almost impassable roads, across plains and through tunnels in a trans-continental auto race.

The reputation of his father's make of car, the "Dent" of distinction is at stake; and even though Jimmy has hitherto been ashamed to ride in one of them, his pride and spirit is aroused when he hears it ridiculed, and he enters the race.

Theodore Roberts is splendid as John Dent, the father, who has felt keenly the sons' disloyalty, but is later made to feel justly proud when he changes his attitude and rallies to his support.

Mary McClaren is lovable as the girl who acted as sort of peace-maker between father and son, and was rewarded at last for her faithfulness.

The Princess.

"Concert" showing at the Princess today, is well titled, for it concerns a man who has an exalted opinion of himself, and is flattered into believing that everyone else thinks he is a prince of a fellow, when in reality they are just making a convenience of him, and sponging on his hospitality.

The opening scenes are on a very lavish scale, carrying out the idea that money is no object to one so rich as William Crombie, and he satisfies his conceit by thinking he can go "one better" than his wealthy friends.

But later the scenes change and God's great outdoors in the north woods is the natural background, and a new note is sounded in this life of the self-centered man who had hitherto emphasized the big I in everything.

Mrs. De Wolf Hopper plays the role of the wife and William B. Davidson Maurice Costello and Betty Hilburn the other leading roles. Robinson Crusoe completes the program.

The Dixie.

"Grandma's Boy" in which Harold Lloyd will be seen today and the rest of the week at the Dixie, is not purely comedy, as have been his other pictures but there are touches of pathos and serious moments interwoven, but the humorous situations with which it abounds are as funny as anything he has ever done.

The theme of the story deals with a youth, Harold by name, who is a frightful coward, and between being scared most of the time, and ashamed of his weakness the rest of the time, he spends a most miserable existence. As is always true of the coward he was the butt of all the good natured fun of the village, and held up for ridicule on every occasion.

But at last Grandma comes to the rescue and uses a charm that works and the coward becomes a hero.

Mr. Lloyd is ably assisted by Mrs. Anna Townsend as Grandma and Mildred Davies as the sweet heart.

Farmington Next.

With its first football game a matter of history, and Kingwood placed in the same slot of a 13-0 score in the game last Friday afternoon, the Fairview High School team is looking forward with interest to the engagement to be staged with Farmington on local grounds Saturday afternoon, October 14. Not much is known of the strength of the Farmington team, but it is safe to predict that it will give the locals a hard struggle. It will be remembered that Farmington played Fairview team almost to a standstill in basketball in the Monongahela tourney at Fairmont last spring and it is believed that they will hold the locals to a close score in the engagement here October 14. West Monongahela High team will be met on local grounds on October 28.

A. Ammons Named.

Mr. Barnes has also announced that pay checks will be distributed at this meeting.

scarlet fever. The school will reopen for work next Monday.

The pursuit of gambling and following his own desires, in the Libra man is not so much sensual as sensual, and is more of an eagerness for new objects of attraction than an impulse of passion. When overtaken by disaster they recover quickly and go to work again with redoubled vigor.

In physical appearance these people are tall and usually slender, and well formed with oval faces, quick enunciation sometimes shrill voices and beautiful eyes.

The highest companionship and most congenial friends will be found among fire people; next with those born under their own sign and third, with those born under Aquarius.
